PARK(ing) Day September 17

www.parkingday.org

Originally created by Rebar, San Francisco art and design collective, PARK(ing) Day is an annual, one-day, global event where artists, activists and citizens collaborate to temporarily transform metered parking spots into "PARK(ing)" spaces: temporary public parks. Anyone can participate in PARK(ing) Day, though it is strictly a non-commercial project, intended to promote creativity, civic engagement, critical thinking, unscripted social interactions, generosity and play.

Scavetecture: A Digital Scavenger Hunt September 25, 11:00 am

Mobile app available at: format-ds.com/scavetecture. Follow us on twitter.com/scavetecture for tips, updates, and official rules.

Explore the past, present, and future of San Francisco design through the lens of your camera phone with Scavetecture: a citywide crowd-sourced design tour and multimedia scavenger hunt. Download the mobile app on September 25, and it will lead you to hotspots with access to design tour tidbits, local market freebies, and clever clues leading to a cash prize. Sharing clues with your social network increases your chances at winning. The app utilizes augmented reality technology, which combines your smartphone camera, GPS, and compass to enable access to hidden information in your immediate environment.

First Space: Memory | Movement | Material | Space Christopher Haas & Alonzo King's LINES Ballet Collaboration

September 25, 3:30 pm

Free; space is limited. Registration required.

Alonzo King LINES Dance Center, 26 Seventh Street, 5th Floor, San Francisco

Architect Christopher Haas and ballet choreographer Alonzo King, of San Francisco's LINES Ballet, invite you to join them for a look into their upcoming collaborative ballet. Recipients of the 2009 Artist Collaboration Award, sponsored by the Flora Hewlett and the Alexander Wallace Gerbode Foundation, Chris and Alonzo will premiere a new ballet in spring 2011 exploring space and movement by examining how the body, memory, spatial configurations and materiality effects one's relationship to our built environment and generates form and space.
