• We bring you wine-loving musicians pretty regularly, but occasionally we also find musical wine personalities, most notably Kermit Lynch and Mike Lynch. Now a new album, debuting this Tuesday, will show off the skills of a slew of vintners not named Lynch collaborating with The Doors' Ray Manzarek, Alan Parsons and many more music industry pros. Grammy-winning artist and producer David Pack is behind the pop album, Napa Crossroads, which features Larry Maguire of Far Niente and Nickel & Nickel on jazz guitar and vocals, David Duncan of Silver Oak and Twomey on guitar and vocals and Jeff Gargiulo of Gargiulo Vineyards on guitar, piano and vocals. Suzanne Pride Bryan of Pride Mountain and Carmen and Gail Policy of Casa Piena contributed lyrics. City Winery Napa will be hosting a benefit release party with performances on April 28, raising money for the Music Connection, supporting music in Napa Valley schools, and Arts Council Napa Valley. "I love my life in wine," said Maguire in a press release, "but had I met David when I was 22, I think we could have had one really hot band. Working with him has helped me realize one of the great dreams of my life—to record my songs on a professionally-released album—and it has reawakened my passion for creating and performing music." If you can't wait until next Tuesday to get your hands on Napa Crossroads, copies are already on sale at Far Niente, Silver Oak, Pride Mountain, Casa Piena and Gargiulo.
