THE MOVIE The Wolf of Wall Street inspired this bachelor pad featuring a well-curated fine art collection and furnishings that cater to a bachelor with refined taste. The sweeping window views include the Hudson River, Verrazano Bridge, Statue of Liberty and Jersey City Marina. I wanted to enhance those views by bringing the colors of the water into the space with fabrics that are soft in texture and palette. Many of the furnishings were chosen for their reflective qualities. We also installed a fully integrated lighting and sound system to control temperature, lighting, music and television/fireplace from an iPhone or iPad.

WINDOW SEAT

The luxurious velvet has a silver sheen and blue/green undertones similar to the color of the water in New York Harbor, seen through the windows.

"Essence" in Silver Shell from the Moscow Collection by Roma/Mark Alexander.

DRAPERIES

The open-weave fabric resembles a fisherman's net with sequins that add sparkle and mimic sunshine reflecting off water.

GAME TABLE

The Monte Carlo table from Felicia Zwebner's own furniture line is just one of the entertainment options in this bachelor pad.

CONSOLE

The Joao Console, also from the designer's furniture line, features a smooth finish that reflects light from the sweeping windows in the room.
