Yom Ha'atzmaut

There are five qualities to look for in a candidate for the position of Kohain Gadol:

- Wisdom,
- Beauty,
- Strength,
- Wealth, and
- Years.

Wisdom.

Not just good old common sense. We're talking Torah. The Kohain Gadol must be versed through and through with Torah wisdom. There's a good reason for that too. When the Kohain Gadol performs the Avodah (service) in the Bait Hamikdash, he represents all of Klal Yisroel (the nation of Israel). He needs to have a perfect understanding of every ritual and what it means in order to fulfill his task.

Beauty.

The candidate for the "Great Kahuna" also has to be very handsome. I know what you're thinking, but how would you like it, if you had to show up to an important appointment and someone handed you a dusty old pair of jeans and a ripped tie-dye tee-shirt. Even if you bathed and brushed your hair, you'd still be embarrassed. The point is, we need to be proud of our leaders.

Strength.

The Kohain Gadol has to be strong. Not that Superman is in

QUIZ QUESTION

Challenge Question. Name 3 different new years in the jewish calendar

Take home questions

* What day are the omer are we up to?

Name an funeral which that person can attend

What are five qualities to be a candidate for Kohen gadol?

What have we added to the amidah now that pesach is over the running, but it does take strength to perform some of the more tiring tasks of a Kohain Gadol.

Wealth.

The Kohain Gadol must be richer than all the other Kohanim. That rule applies to Jewish kings and Jewish leaders too. That way there's no chance that he will be bribed.

And, finally,

Years.

The Kohain Gadol must be mature. No youngsters need apply. That's because with age comes life experience and wisdom.
