The reason we can't mix different materials in our clothing (shatnez)

The Mitzvah of Shatnez is another one of those Chukim: that is, a Mitzvah that comes with blind faith and no official reason given. Although there is a nice story.

It all goes back to the first sons, Kayin and Hevel. On the 14th of Nissan, Year One, Adam huddled with his two boys. He explained to them that in the distant future, the Jewish people would offer sacrifices on this very day being pesach. Kayin came up with the idea that they too should offer korbanot. Hevel agreed.

Kayin was a farmer. So he brought flax seeds for his korban. Unfortunately, he made the mistake of bringing the worst cut of his crop. Hevel, on the other hand, brought the finest sheep from his herds. As they stood in anticipation, Hashem sent a bolt of lightning to burn Hevel's sacrifice, but Kayin's sacrifice was not accepted.

QUIZ QUESTIONS

How many mitzvot are given to us in kedoshim?(include negative and positive)

Which famous Rabbi does a take on being kind to our friends? (extra point for the hebrew)

What mitzvah do we come across that we don't understand?(read the whole story)

Challenge Question: Worth $5
What two mitzvot do we mention in both parshat kedoshim and the Ten Commandments?

The rejection of Kayin's offering made him very angry. Kayin got so jealous that he murdered his brother. Now here's where the Shatnez connection comes in: Kayin offered flax seed; Hevel offered sheep. Flax seed makes linen; sheep grow wool. Hashem declared that never again would the opposing spirits of Kayin and Hevel mix. Not even in clothing. Therefore, we are forbidden to mix linen and wool in clothing or even on couch covers.
