

ADIRONDACK SHAKESPEARE COMPANY

ADK Shakes is Back at Scaroon Manor!

We couldn't stay away for long! As much as we love traveling around Adirondack Park, we've always felt at home at the beautiful Scaroon Manor Amphitheater, and we're beyond thrilled to be back! On August 8th we opened at the Manor with a performance of Hercules in the morning and Twelfth Night in the evening. We were blessed with beautiful weather, an incredible audience and an amazing backdrop-- what more could we ask?

The Shakespeare nuts behind ADK Shakes fell in love with the Scaroon Manor Amphitheater as soon as they saw it. In fact, one of the reasons that we're looking to establish a Shakespeare company in the Adirondacks is to save this amazing outdoor amphitheater. We are currently working with Adirondack Architectural Heritage to get the Scaroon Manor Amphitheater added to New York State's list of historic sites. Let's bring live performance back to this incredible amphitheater!

If you would like to help ADK Shakes save the Scaroon Manor Amphitheater, please come see our performances in this space and spread the word to your friends and family. The more attention we can bring to this issue, the better! If you've missed our first few performances at the Manor, never fear-- we'll be here through Sunday, and there's an opportunity to see all of our Mainstage shows performed in this breathtaking space. Our schedule at the Manor is posted below. We hope to see you there!

FRIDAY, AUG. 10 (5PM)

Rosencrantz & Guildenstern are Dead

SATURDAY, AUG. 11 (2:30PM)

Twelfth Night

SUNDAY, AUG. 12, (2:30PM)

Hamlet

ARTISTIC DIRECTOR TARA BRADWAY hamming it up for the camera between scenes of Twelfth Night at Scaroon Manor.

DANIEL JIMENEZ AND ROSS HAMMAN play Malvolio and Sir Toby Belch, a pair of characters that couldn't be more opposite!

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR PATRICK SILER giving the audience a taste of the action at the August 8th performance of Hercules.