Work was completed in March on a 4,200-square-foot tenant improvement project for the software company Society Consulting at 901 104th Ave. N.E. in Bellevue.

The space supplements the company's existing offices with additional work stations, conference space, accessible bathrooms and a set of bleachers for working, meeting and playing.

"The living room" is the focal point of the space, connecting the two office levels and creating space for informal gatherings.

Changes included full height wall decals, interactive walls, tiered lounges and modern furnishings to complement the tech operation.
