Felchlin SWITZERLAND

Chocolate

Passionate about its craft, Swiss-based Felchlin produces chocolate for connoisseurs in the same way it has done since its first batch of cocoa mass was produced.

Even today the conching process continues as it has always done, for up to 72 hours – a very special treatment that few can emulate, but one that is vital to retaining the aromas of the beans.

Great care is also taken in the selection of raw ingredients with Felchlin having always sourced its cocoa beans direct from plantations throughout the world.

Moreover, Felchlin is proud for having elevated the standard of appreciation of chocolate by introducing the very first Single Origin chocolate in the world.

"Maracaibo 65%" made from 100% Criolo beans from Venezuela.

Today, Felchlin is proud its Australian Ambassador Jessica Pedemont of the 'Chocolate Artisan' is continuing on its fine tradition, bringing a great source of energy, skill and innovation to the brand.
