Early Childhood, K-12 Education,
College Access, Health & Nutrition

THE IEVAL TEAM

iEval works predominantly throughout the state of Michigan and has done educational evaluation work in Alaska, Florida, and Indiana.

A sampling of project categories include:

Cradle to Career Initiatives including The Learning Network in Kalamazoo and The Educators Task Force in Battle Creek

Early Childhood Initiatives including county level approaches in Calhoun, Genesee, and Newaygo (Michigan) and West Palm Beach (Florida)

21st Century Community Learning Centers programs in 66 sites in Michigan (e.g., Clare-Gladwin, Kalamazoo, Traverse City) and 3 sites in Indiana and Alaska

Mathematics Science Partnership Projects covering northern Michigan, southwestern Michigan, and Oakland County

Physical Education & Nutrition Education programs throughout Michigan with the Michigan Fitness Foundation and Michigan Department of Community Health

iEval was founded in 2002 and is led by Dr. Wendy Tackett. Dr. Tackett focuses on the meaningful use of the evaluation findings. Other members of the iEval team include Kelley Pasatta, M.Ed., who helps bridge teaching, education, and social policy; Dr. Michael G. Miller, who works to ensure a solid research design; and Corey Smith, who strives to provide rigorous information for the purpose of informed decision making.

iEval's knowledgeable and collaborative approach to our Mathematics Science Partnership evaluation has given us data to both inform our work with schools during the project and fully meet the complex requirements of the federal and state funding agencies. iEval has been a hands-on, high-energy partner throughout the project, and I won't do another major project without putting them on the team!
